carbonZERO project impacts planet Earth!

SanLamere's carbonZERO logo – working towards a carbon guarantee Taking on the Planet – here's a David and Goliath story you'll want to read about!

SanLamere must be taking their commitment to the environment pretty seriously; not only are they sponsoring penguins, but now they've created carbonZERO, a project that is helping to ensure products arrive to you 100% carbon neutral – guaranteed! Now there's a battle of epic proportions, but one that apparently doesn't fade SanLamere.

By examining their own carbon emissions and those of their manufacturers and logistics partners, SanLamere is putting a price on the total carbon emissions made to bring the consumer the end product. By doing so SanLamere can effectively offset those emissions whilst continuously reviewing how they can be doing things better; saving money, saving energy, saving the planet!

SanLamere – taking on the battles that need to be won!
